

The dangers of media consolidation are all around us. A clear example is the decision of Sinclair Broadcasting to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary just before the election. The FCC needs to strengthen ownership rules, rather than weaken them.